

Web database lists 8,500 directors

22 November 2005

PRIME Database, an independent primary market-monitoring firm, has set up a list of more than 8,500 professionals eligible to be independent directors on the board of listed companies.

The details of these professionals are available on its Web site, <http://www.primedirectors.com/>, which is free of cost for listed companies. Of the total professionals who have enrolled, 87 per cent have more than 10 years of experience and only 212 professionals currently hold 338 independent directorships.
